

ALPHA PEOPLE

Your staff are our business

Support for Unemployed Executives and Professionals

Why use a specialist service?

In partnership with The Department of Work and Pensions, Alpha has now delivered this specialist course to well over 100 unemployed professionals, and thereby helped an audience that, historically, has suffered from a lack of support through what can be a thoroughly de-motivating experience.

Overview

It may have been some time since you last had to find a job, and this comprehensive seminar on the skills needed will improve your chances dramatically. Recruiters have changed their approach radically over the last few years and we cover the following topics in some detail –

- Market conditions
- Maintaining confidence
- Executive CV writing
- Professional associations
- Interviews
- Aptitude assessments
- Taking stock
- Presentation
- Assessment centres
- Real and online networking
- Recruitment agencies
- Psychometric profiling
- Moving forward
- Applying direct
- Cross-skilling
- Online job-hunting
- Specialist agencies
- Action Plan

Delivered as a hard-hitting, one day seminar, you will benefit from the Trainer's first-hand experience of recruiting - from both an Agency, and an Employer's perspective. Comprehensive course notes are provided and the day ends with a stretching but achievable Action Plan. A buffet lunch is provided.

Some feedback from previous seminars –

"It was very good to get an Employer's perspective on the job market. It also helped to overcome some of the issues I have with self-esteem."

"Very good day, excellent session for confidence."

"Clear, concise, constructive and relevant information."

"Useful explanation and discussion of job search for senior people, lots of ideas to apply now."

"Excellent, excellent, excellent!"

For further information, contact Stephen Burgess on 01722 414140